You can typically find some great reviews of hotels through various mediums, however people's first port of call when wanting a vacation is to go straight to their Travel Agent. However it is always scary dealing with Travel Agents as you are never too sure what previous clients have had to say about them. What is their rating? How did they deal with unhappy clients? What was their Travel Agent Review rating?

This site intends to give you the impartial information and reviews on the agents so that you are better prepared to design a vacation anywhere in the world. Never worry about using a Travel Agent again as TAA will make sure you choose the right one.
